SUMMARY

Professional Experience & Goals:

This should give a brief description of what you have done, what you are doing, and the kinds of things you are interested in.

I have been a teacher for four years after graduating from a Masters program in special Education. I have a passion for education and believe it requires the utmost patience to teach to special needs children; I have devoted my life to this mission.

Specialties:

This should mention a few particular skills or experiences you consider your professional specialties.

- I have learned in my years teaching that patience is vital. If you are not getting your point across or not being understood the best solution is to figure out what you're not communicating clearly enough and find a new way to communicate. You must be able to change your own actions and not get become frustrated with other because communication is a two-way street.
- Sensitivity is one of the most important skills for any job; sensitivity for the job at hand and for coworkers. In my line of work sensitivity and compassion are necessary attributes. I am highly sensitive to the needs of other and students' needs. The families of students with special needs also need to be regarded with the utmost sensitivity. Parenting is the hardest job and doing it with a child with disabilities can be tremendously difficult and emotionally trying; as a teacher my job is to provide the best support I can to the families of these children.

EXPERIENCE

Teacher Speical Education | Ashton Park School

Sep 2009 to Jan 2012

- Teaching students with special needs; Keeping students at an educational pace where they could eventually matriculate into the general student population; Meets with parents and outside tutors and aids to ensure the students were getting the proper care inside and outside of the school environment.

EDUCATION

University of Leeds - Masters in Special Education Research Projects and SNE Principals and Prac 2009

INTERESTS

This field should include a few particular things that you are interested in professionally or personally.

I am very interested in education and child psychology. The two are intertwined in every way and I believe all teachers should be well educated in both fields.
